At Thursday night's meeting of select council, Mr. Chittenden will introduce a resolution providing that the Relief Fire company's quarters be moved down from Petersburg to a point in the vicinity of Webster avenue and Olive street.

The Ladies' auxiliary of the Calvary Reformed church will hold a supper and social on Thursday and Friday nights of this week, in the basement of the church, on Gibson street. The proceeds of the two evenings will be for the benefit of the building fund.

Providence convales, No. 195, Improved Order of Heptastichians, will hold a social of officers this evening in their convales room, in the Fenner & Chappell block. The members and their lady friends will be provided with luncheon by the Ladies' Aid society of the Providence Methodist Episcopal church.

A live electric wire started a small blaze in the summer garden annex of Zenke's Penn avenue hotel last evening and the Chemical company was called by messenger. After breaking the circuit with an axe the danger was averted. There was but little damage from the flame. The prompt response of the Chemical company prevented a big blaze.

The auditing committee of councils at its stated meeting last night, refused to approve of Peter Ross' claim of $140 for work as inspector of the Swetland street pave, for which City Engineer Phillips would only allow $60. The bid of C. J. Battenberg of $10 for taking testimony at the Kinsey hearing was set aside, as were also bills from the Crystal Hotel company for apartments and other bills which the General Pharmacy company paid with popular subscriptions and now wants to be reimbursed for.

HAMILTON'S VICIOUS KICK

Seriously Injured Special Officer W. R. Robbins of the D. & H.

W. R. Robbins, special officer at the Delaware and Hudson station, was assaulted and seriously injured last night by James Hamilton, a Union Transfer man employed in driving a mail wagon.

Robbins received a kick in the left groin which ruptured a blood vessel and caused a swelling as large as the crown of a hat. He had to be conveyed to his home in Bleeker's court in a cab and was placed under the care of Dr. J. L. Wentz.

Hamilton refused to move his wagon at the request of the baggagemen and as it was necessary that room should be made for the baggage wagons as the 7:45 train had just arrived the special officer caught hold of Hamilton's horse and moved it forward a little. This incensed Hamilton and he followed the officer into the baggage room in a threatening manner. The officer told him not to come into the room and when he insisted on entering pushed him out. Then Hamilton hit him the kick.

Hamilton was placed under arrest by two patrolmen. Who they were could not be learned as no record of the arrest as required by law was made at the station house. Hamilton's side of the case could not be learned as Chief of Police Robbins refused to allow a reporter to interview him, even after the injustice of depriving the man of a hearing before the court of public opinion was pointed out.

Hamilton is the same mail driver who ran over and killed Mrs. Thomas Griffiths about a year ago.

HILLSIDE HOME'S NEW IMPROVEMENT

Over $23,000 Expended Recently for Electric and Steam Facilities.

ECONOMY TO FOLLOW THE OUTLAY

Old Lighting and Heating System Replaced by a Better and a Safer One—Board of Directors Accompanied by Newspaper Representatives Inspected the Home and the New Plant Yesterday—$3,000 to Be Saved Annually.

Recent improvements at the Hillside Home which cost over $23,000, but which will save the Scranton poor district about $3,000 per year were formally inspected yesterday by the board of directors and a party of newspaper men. The new features include a boiler plant with electric and steam heating machinery; a manway containing ducts and connecting the power plant with the main buildings; a modern system of electric wiring and lamps, and a complete renovation of the interior of the several departments.

The following persons comprised the party who made a thorough inspection and were entertained at supper by Superintendent Beemer and Mrs. Beemer, the matron of the institution: W. S. Langstaff, president; Frederick Fuller, P. J. Murphy, Thomas Shotton, Dr. W. A. Paine and Frederick L. Terpe, directors; and E. J. Lynett, secretary of the board; H. B. Cohn, of New York city, the head of the firm which performed the electric and machinery contract; P. P. Fuller, of New York city, the board's inspector of the work; ex-School Controller James A. Evans, Dr. A. Strang, the resident physician at the home; C. Ben Johnson and five representatives of Scranton papers.

A side from pecuniary advantages and increased convenience, a more important consideration suggested the improvement—that of precaution against fire and probable loss of life. The buildings were among the first of their kind in this region to be electric lighted and under old methods the wires were left exposed, bunched, comparatively uninsulated and within reach of the inmates in certain quarters. Now all the lights are out of reach, the wires hidden and the whole system is controlled either from the administration building or the power plant.

COST OF IMPROVEMENTS.

The power house is of brick and iron and 800 feet of main buildings. It cost $7,500; its machinery contents represent an outlay of $5,537.50; for electric wiring and fixtures, $6,000 was expended; the manway for wire and steam pipes cost $2,250; about $600 was spent for retreating the walls and repainting; a total of $23,652.50.

But 253 lights were supplied under the old system as against 550 lights at present, and this latter number will eventually be increased to 1,200. The lights extend in rows and all the wards and are fed by wires concealed beneath a specially patterned picture moulding. In many instances a cluster of incandescents have been located beneath mouldings glances attached to the ceiling.

The power is supplied from a 75 K W Eddy dynamo and a 14 by 14 "Ideal" engine, and a 15 K W Eddy dynamo and a 6 by 8 Sheppard engine. The first mentioned dynamo and engine will be used for heavy work and the latter for light night service from 10 o'clock to daylight. This machinery with attached fixtures and a large marble switchboard are located in a well kept room floored with cement and finished on the walls and ceiling with tin panel work, enameled. From the switchboard, which has nine circuit connections, the lights in all the wards and rooms can be controlled and the automatics connected with the electric mechanism is such that the addition or reducing of light does not decrease or increase the speed of the engines.

Steam is supplied by two 100-horsepower Tonkin boilers with attached automatic dampers and a regulator which keeps the steam at any desired uniform pressure no matter what increase or decrease may be made in the use of steam. All the exhaust steam is utilized and conducted through a 10-inch pipe laid with the electric feed wires through the new manway. Nearly all the construction of the latter, excepting the masonry, was performed by Home inmates, which saved it is estimated, what would have been an item of about $3,000 for labor.

Valuable use has been made of the water from a large and always flowing spring. The water has been piped to a reservoir in the power house and will be used in the boilers. In case of the failure of the artesian well now supplying the main buildings the spring water will be forced from the reservoir to the buildings.

KNIGHTS OF THE MYSTIC CHAIN

Gave Their First Annual Ball in Music Hall Last Night.

Scranton castle, No. 137, Knights of the Mystic Chain, gave its first annual ball in Music hall last night. The committee of arrangements, of which W. A. Larney was chairman, and J. Williamson secretary, left nothing undone that would aid to the enjoyment and sociability of the occasion, and the consequence the members and their 100 or more guests had a delightful time.

Sweeney Threatened His Mother.

John Sweeney, a young man who resides with his mother in Green's lane, was arrested early yesterday morning by Patrolmen Jones and McMullen. He had been threatening his mother and raising a disturbance in general. When given a hearing yesterday by Mayor Bailey he was sent to the county jail for ten days in default of a $3 fine.

Convocation of Evangelists.

Beginning this evening and continuing every evening this week there will be a convocation of pastors and evangelists in the Gospel Tabernacle on Jefferson avenue. Rev. William P. Ray, of the John N. Hawley Bible School, Hawleyville, Conn., will participate in all these services. Seats will be free.

Paper Read By Rev. S. C. Logan D. D.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Methodist clergymen of this city was held yesterday morning in the Elm Park church at 10 o'clock. The only feature of especial interest was the paper presented by Rev. S. C. Logan, D. D., entitled "The Work of the Presbyterian Church in Home Missions." The paper was of much interest and contained many historical facts.

REPUBLICANS CAUCUS.

They Met Last Night After the Meeting of Board of Control.

A caucus of the Republican members of the board of control was held in the board rooms immediately following last night's meeting. Nine of the ten Republican members were present, the tenth, Mr. Schaefer, of the Tenth, being sick and unable to attend. An effort was made to compromise on Mr. Barker but neither Mr. Schaefer or Mr. Welsh's friends would agree to this. The proposition received only three votes. No vote was taken between the two candidates. Adjournment was made until 7 o'clock tonight, when, if it is impossible to effect a compromise, a vote will be taken. All present pledged themselves to stand by the nominee of the caucus, Mr. Francis, the Democrat from the Second, is pledged to vote for Mr. Schaefer in case he is nominated. He would not say last night how he would vote in case of Mr. Welsh's nomination.

The Democrats started out from the meeting with the intention of holding a caucus at Lohman's on Lackawanna avenue but when they counted noses on the way down and found that they had a very large minority they decided to put off the meeting until tonight. They fear that Mr. Jennings' candidacy is not pleasing to Mr. Devannoy nor to Mr. O'Malley, whose faction was promised the support of the Democratic machine in the recent Third ward fight. These circumstances coupled with the fact that Mr. Francis openly went into the Democratic caucus two weeks ago last night and told them like a little man that he had promised to vote for Mr. Schaefer and would keep his pledge, causes the Jennings adherents to be just a bit faint-hearted and there is a possibility that they will not place his name before the board.

EISTEDDFOD AT AVOCA.

Number of Interesting Competitions Decided at the Three Sessions. Chairmen and Conductors.

The Avoca Choral union conducted an eisteddfod yesterday at O'Malley's hall in that borough. There were three sessions, the whole forming a fine musical treat and an appropriate entertainment for Washington's birthday. The attendance was large and contained many well known eisteddfodians from this and Luzerne county.

George J. Leckie was president of the morning session and J. W. Evans conductor. Prizes were awarded as follows: Competition, "Almost Persuaded," $2, to Miss Sarah Davis, of the West Side, prize by Brown's Beehive; composition, "The Last Hymn," $4, divided among Misses Anna Devlin, of Scranton; Gertrude Evans, of Plains; and Nettie Lewis, of the West Side; composition, "Daddy," $4, awarded to Miss Sadie Gwent Kessler, of Plymouth; reading English prose, prize $1, to Attorney James E. Watkins, of Taylor; prize by E. R. James, of Taylor; quartette, "I'm a Pilgrim," $8, was not awarded for the reason assigned that the competitors failed in the necessary requirements.

D. E. Thomas was president and H. V. Rees, of Wilkes-Barre, conductor of the afternoon session. The music conductor was Morgan C. Jones. The audience sang "America" and the Welsh national air. Prizes were awarded as follows: Composition, "I Fear No Evil," $4, divided among Morris Thomas, of the West Side; and David Williams, of Wilkes-Barre; prize awarded by T. J. Newton.

Rev. B. H. Harris, of Taylor, judged the competition, "Psalm of Life," a poem, Miss Effie Browning, of Scranton, received the prize, $150, donated by J. T. Armstrong & Co. Other awards were: Composition, bass and tenor duet, "The Call to Arms," $6, to David Stevens and P. H. Warren, of Scranton; composition, piano solo, $2, to Miss Viola Jones, of Wilkes-Barre. The choir prize of $25 was awarded to the only competing choir, the Taylor Choral union. The singers received a merited compliment from Mr. Morgans. There was a large attendance at the evening session despite the bad weather. H. V. Rees presided and William H. Thomas was conductor. Mr. Rees delivered a brief address on eisteddfod, their objects and meaning. A vocal selection by Morris Thomas opened the programme.

Awards were bestowed as follows: Composition, "Out of the Deep," $4, to William Anwyl, of Wilkes-Barre; recitation, "Charge of the Light Brigade," $4, divided between D. J. Williams, of Wilkes-Barre, and J. E. Edwards, of Taylor; piano solo, "Polish Dance," $5, to J. J. O'Malley; impromptu speech, $1, to Thomas Watkins, of Duryea; soprano solo, "Because I Love You, Dear," $4, to Mrs. E. J. Gilroy, of Avoca.

The last number was the singing of "The Radiant Morn" by the Taylor choir, which was the last number. They had no competitors. The choir carried off $129 in prizes and it was the opinion that the quality of their singing earned them the prize. During the adjudication period Edwin Bowen, of Scranton, sang "Flag of My Country." The officers were: Music committee, Morgan Morgans, of Wilkes-Barre, and L. Watkins, of Scranton; recitations, Rev. H. H. Harris, of Taylor; accompanist, Miss Norma Williams, of Scranton; secretary, D. E. Jones, of Avoca.

MRS. BOOTH TENDERS HER RESIGNATION

Was Accepted by the Board Unanimously and Without Comment.

HAD TWO LIVELY DISCUSSIONS

Bids for Three New Buildings to be Advertised For—Insurance Squabble Settled—Janitor of the High School Has His Salary Raised $420 a Year—Last Regular Meeting of the School Board of 1896-97.

At last night's meeting of the board of control the resignation of the present board—the following letter was read:

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 22, 1897.
To the Scranton Board of Control,
I have the honor to acknowledge your resignation as director of drawing in the public schools of Scranton, to take effect March 11, 1897.
Most respectfully,
(Mrs.) Lucy Booth.

On motion of Mr. Notz the resignation was unanimously accepted. There was no debate or comment. The board had two lively talks, one over the matter of the new buildings Nos. 28, 15 and 6, and the other about the report of the insurance committee, upon which action was deferred at the previous meeting.

Mr. Jacobs, of the building committee, announced that the plans for these proposed buildings were ready and approved by the committee, and recommended that they be accepted, but that no bids be accepted for the present, owing to the impoverished condition of the school district's treasury. Mr. Notz believed it would be a better evidence of good faith on the part of the board towards the wards which had not been promised the buildings if the bids would be advertised for at once, and moved that the secretary be instructed to advertise for bids and to state in the advertisement that the district has no money at present, but will have it later on.

Mr. Worman argued long and loud against any such provisional bid, saying it was bad business policy to contract a debt until the wherewith to liquidate it was at hand or in sight, and still worse business policy to tell experts that they would be dealing with an insolvent concern and that they would have to peddle the board's paper from post to pillar. Mr. Gibbons accused Mr. Worman of talking buncombe and said it came with bad grace from the representative of the Eighth to oppose a much needed school in his own ward. No. 6 being in Mr. Worman's bailiwick.

MR. WORMSER'S REPLY.

To this Mr. Worman replied with some warmth, saying that he had been elected five times from his ward and that was evidence that his constituents, or a majority of them, at least, were satisfied with the way he had represented the ward. He had never before had his fealty to his constituents questioned, and he gave Mr. Gibbons to understand that he had made an assertion that would not be easily overlooked. Speaking on the merits of the question, Mr. Worman stated that he realized that No. 6 should be placed with a larger and better building, but he had to be consistent in this as he had tried to be in every other act performed as a member of the board, therefore he would not favor contracting an immense debt which he could not pay, and, even if he could, it would continue the hardship that his constituents had been and are suffering.

Mr. Jacobs suggested as a way out of the difficulty that the bids be advertised for, providing the committee between now and next meeting can find some way of meeting the debt. This was acceptable to both sides of the controversy, and would have been adopted but for Mr. Jennings' speech against parading the district's poverty before the financial world and a motion that the poverty clause be entirely eliminated. The motion was passed without any opposition. Mr. Worman contented himself with a shrug of the shoulders that said as plain as words: "I'm in a hole, and your own shoulders—let me record."

After an hour's discussion, a death blow was dealt the scheme to gradually cancel all the insurance held by the board and establish a private insurance fund by charging each year as much or a little more than the sum paid in premiums. The plan as outlined in the insurance committee's report contained three propositions: First, that the present policies be allowed to run to their term; second, that when the policies expire they be renewed on a common basis of 40 per cent. of the value of the building; third, that they be renewed only for the period during which the longest term policy held at present has to run and that they then be cancelled, all at once.

Mr. Gibbons ardently supported all three propositions. Mr. Jennings spoke in favor of the first two but did not commit himself to the third. Mr. Worman fought for the first two and against the third and succeeded in swaying the board to his way of thinking.

WHAT THEY AGREED ON.

All agreed that the policies should be allowed to run; at least no opposition was offered to this proposition. It was unanimously agreed that it was not necessary to insure a building for more than 40 per cent. of its value as nearly or fully 60 per cent. of the modern school building is indestructible by fire. The school board's third proposition was the result of Mr. Gibbons' conviction that the district could save money by forming an insurance fund from the premiums now being paid, and Mr. Worman's opinion that it was the height of folly to insure that such a scheme was feasible, because there was no law to bind succeeding boards to observe the plan, and again it would not be satisfactory to the taxpayers, he felt sure, and the board would be taking itself liable to self destruction if it was taking a wild cut risk that the members would not care to assume if it was their own individual properties that were in question.

The vote on the two first propositions was unanimously for, and on the last only a few were recorded against non-concurrence. This leaves the insurance matter just where it stood previous to Mr. Gibbons' agitation; except that the buildings hereafter to be insured for only 40 per cent. of their value.

The superintendent was instructed to see to the observance of the resolution limiting the right school term to March 11. A bill of $12 for three leads of cord-wood from the Consumers Ice company was referred back to the supply committee as it was deemed too high.

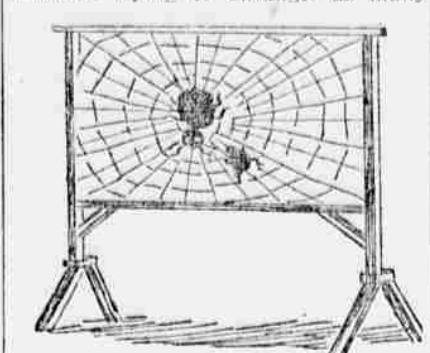

At the recommendation of the high school committee, through Mr. Worman, the salary of the janitor at the high school was increased from $1,200 to 1,820, it being contended that he could not afford to pay for the necessary help with the money he was receiving. A $475 piano was purchased from L. B. Powell & Co. for the auditorium of the high school. The board authorized the building committee to give the Smead-Willis company a certificate to the effect that their system of heating and ventilating is giving entire satisfaction in the Scranton schools. Adjournment was made until 8 o'clock tonight when adjournment sine die and re-organization will take place.

AMUSING COBWEB SOCIAL

Conducted Last Night in the Calvary Reformed Church.

In the Calvary Reformed church last evening the children of the Boys and Girls Mission band were treated to a novel entertainment that had been arranged by the pastor of the church, Rev. G. W. Welsh. It was a cob-web social and the chief entertainment of the evening consisted in seven of the children trying to untangle as many strings, each many yards in length and entangled and entwined among the chairs and other articles of furniture in the auditorium of the church.

The contest was begun by the contestants beginning to wind their string on little sticks, beginning at the platform. On the platform, in the front of the auditorium, there was erected a standard, consisting of an oblong frame formed by four pieces of wood and resting upon two wooden legs. Stretched from one end of the frame to the other, and starting from the center were many colored threads, so arranged as to look very much like a spider's web. It was indeed a web, for right in the center was a huge black rag spider, nearly a foot and a half in length, with white silk dots all over him and numerous legs.

Near by on the web was perched a medium sized bull frog, cleverly wrought in cotton and realistically painted in green. The lucky youth that succeeded in winding up his string first with the fewest breaks in it was awarded the first prize, the rag spider, and the winner of the second prize the bull frog. The social proved a source of much enjoyment to those present, but the pleasure of the evening was enhanced by the rendition of a brief literary and musical programme.

HOLE TEN FEET IN DIAMETER.

Torn Through Seventeen Feet of Rock in William A. Colliery.

At the William A. colliery of the Connel Colliery company, at Duryea, a successful effort was made Friday to break an opening between two veins. Seventeen feet of rock divided the veins at the point where it was decided to make an opening for the purpose of improving the ventilation of the upper vein.

Ten holes were drilled, each of which was thirteen and one-half feet deep. In these 153 pounds of 60 per cent. Atlas powder was placed. The blasting was a success in every respect, a hole ten feet in diameter being torn through the seventeen feet of rock.
